

YOUTUBE VIDEO LAUNCH STORY SEQUENCES

GOH CONSULTING

Goal: generate maximum awareness and direct as much traffic from IG to YT when a long form video is posted

Overview

There are 3 Main Story Sequences you should run when launching a YouTube Video. The sequence you choose is dependent on the format of the video.

Here's a breakdown of the 3 Sequences:

- Pain Point Callout
- FREE Resource
- Client Case Study

1. Pain Point Callout

Slide 1 - Limiting Belief

The aim is to address the limiting belief, call out the pain point and go against the grain.

Example

"The biggest mistake I see people make is posting niche content to a specific audience. If there's one piece of advice I can give you, NEVER niche down. It kills your reach and the algorithm will never push your content to the right people."

Slide 2 - Proof

Attach the value to a result to build credibility and give people a reason to listen.
Show a screenshot, either a personal result, payment dashboard or client result.

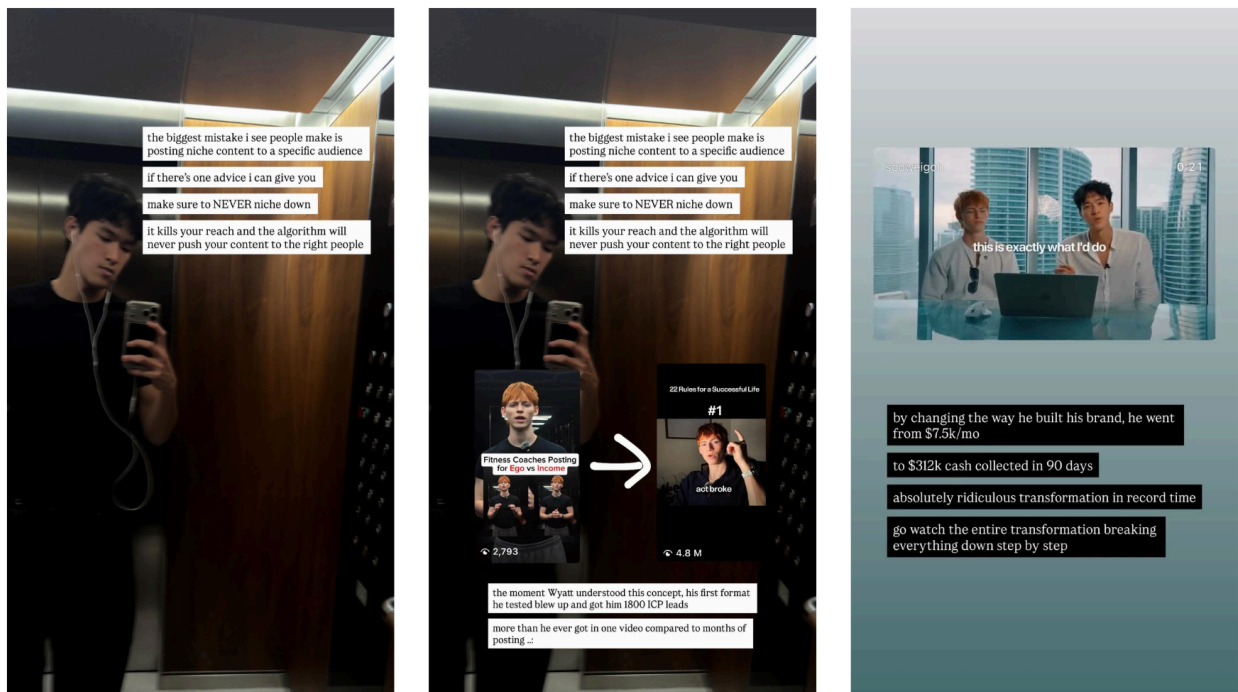

Note: when sharing client results always mention where they were before working with you (Point A) versus where they are after working with you (Point B) and show proof

Slide 3 - CTA

Double down on the outcome: "by changing the way he built his brand, he went from $7.5k/mo to $312k cash collected in 90 days"

Direct the audience to YouTube: "go watch the entire transformation, breaking everything down step by step."

DM CTA as the backup capture (reply [KEYWORD] for the link → Manychat → setter).

2. FREE Resource

Slide 1 - Mission Statement

Showcase your goal and mission, backed by proof that you're achieving it.

Example

"4 months ago I started working with SooWei and we set out on a mission to scale to $1m/mo. Since then we've generated over 25,000 qualified followers and scaled to a record $408k in our first full month together. Now it's our goal to help as many others do the same."

Slide 2 - Client Results

Stack proof from multiple clients in different markets. For each result showcase: Point A vs. Point B, the mechanism, the outcome and proof.

The aim is to make the transformation extremely clear while showcasing exactly how we've helped them to achieve it.

Slide 3 - CTA

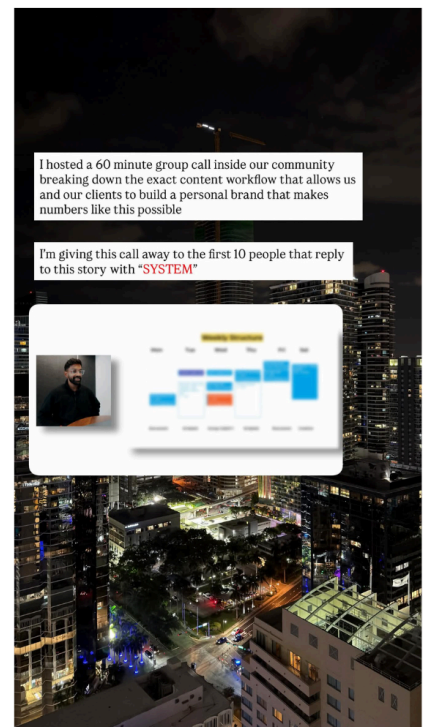

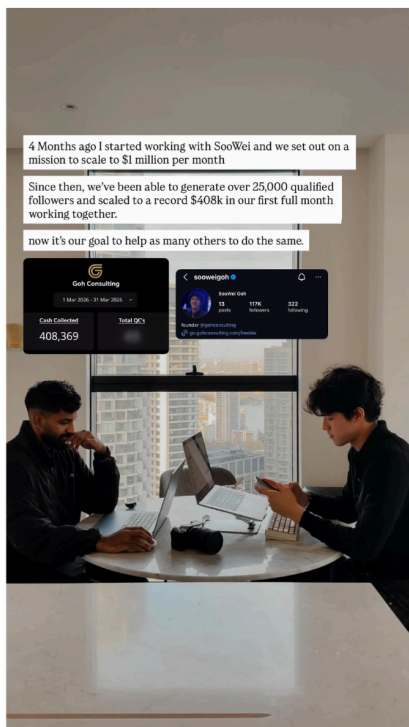

Offer the exclusive free resource while creating scarcity.

Example

Exclusivity: "I hosted a 60-minute group call inside our community breaking down the exact workflow that makes numbers like this possible."

Scarcity: "I'm giving it to the first 10 people who reply with [KEYWORD]" — limited spots × timeframe.

Then include your DM CTA

3. Client Case Study

Slide 1 - Summarise the Transformation

Compare their current situation (where were they when they joined the program) vs dream outcome (where are they now) the timeframe and an open loop.

Example

"Wyatt went from $7k to $105k cash collected / 9k followers to 27k followers / 35% close rate to 100% close rate / all in a span of 30 days... so what did he do?"

Slide 2-4 - Overview of Changes

Each slide should: appeal to a different pain point, explain WHAT you did and WHY, hint at your fulfilment structure and provide proof.

Structure: Problem → Solution → Outcome

Example

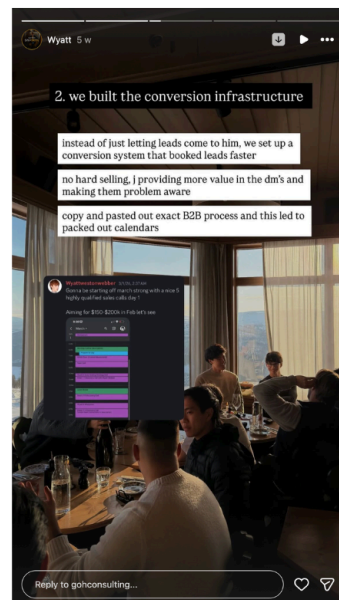

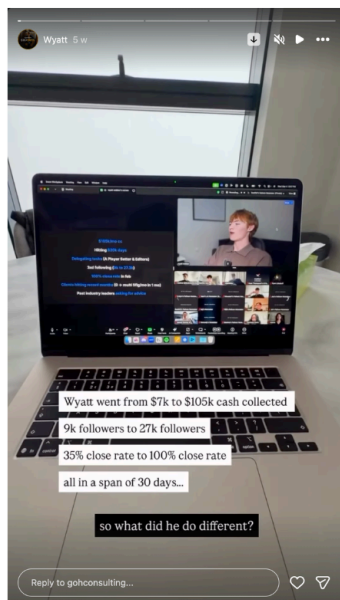

Slide 2: Positioning: "we dialled in his positioning" → wider TOF hooks → wider TAM → more ICP leads → tripled following.

Slide 3: Conversion infrastructure: "we built the conversion infrastructure" → a system that booked leads faster, more value in the DMs, problem-aware leads, a repeatable B2B process → packed calendars.

Slide 5 - CTA

"I just filmed a 45-minute video breaking down step-by-step exactly how we did this..."

DM CTA → "reply [KEYWORD] and I'll send it to you"

When to use

Each sequence should be used depending on the format of the long form video posted. Here's a breakdown of which formats required which sequence.

- Pain Point Callout: Solution Specific Videos
- FREE Resource: Group Calls / Mastermind Recordings
- Client Case Study: Client Interview / 1-1 Client Business Breakdown

Quick checklist

Run this before you post a Sequence. Every answer should be yes.

- Have I identified the video type and chosen the matching sequence?
- Is my entry slide leading with proof or a limiting belief?
- Does each middle slide have its own distinct piece of proof?
- Am I giving direction and withholding the full how?
- Is the featured client's starting point relatable and their result desirable?
- Is there exactly one clear DM keyword, easy to type?
- Is Manychat set to that keyword and deliver the correct asset?
- Does the setter know the sequence is live and what to follow up on?
